

In Honor of Black History Month
The Alexandria Black History Museum
The Alexandria Society for the Preservation of Black Heritage and

411 John Carlyle Street
Alexandria, Virginia 22314

Present

a dinner theater production of

PAUL ROBESON

A Play by Philip Hayes Dean

Featuring Hugh Staples (Paul Robeson)

and

Michael Hill (Lawrence Brown)

Directed by Cody Jones

Sunday, February 12, 2012

Dinner: 5:00 p.m. - 7:00 p.m.

Performance: 7:30 p.m.

Snow date: Sunday, February 19, 2012

Back by Popular Demand
"sold out last year"

Experience the life of the dynamic activist, the acclaimed actor and the brilliant scholar Paul Robeson (1898-1976). Local actor Hugh Staples brings to life the struggles and career of one of America's most brilliant, but misunderstood heroes. This ninety minute performance will be followed by discussions with Hugh Staples and Michael Hill. The event is a fundraiser organized by the Alexandria Black History Museum. Paul Robeson is presented by special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service, Inc. New York.

For reservations: www.thecarlyleclub.com or call 703.548.8899

Ticket Information: $65.00 (includes dinner-ice tea/coffee/admission for one)

$30.00 (no dinner, show only-limited seating at the bar)

Parking Information: $5.00 (Colonial Parking Garage)

For additional information, contact The Alexandria Black History Museum - 703.746.4356