Question:

Would it be possible to put two natural fields in the middle of the circle at Chinguapin Park, instead of just one? What would the cost to do so?

Response:

Two full-sized fields will fit within the Chinguapin Park circle.

The cost to improve two-full sized natural fields within the circle is $1,215,000 and includes tree removal and protection, new irrigation layout, regrading, and field engineering. Installation of two full-sized fields would require the removal of all existing trees in the central portion of the turf area.
